

Project Manager

Tired of working the same boring construction projects? Want to apply your trade project management skills on unique, cutting edge projects in the outdoor industry?

Vertical Solutions, a premier designer, builder and installer of custom indoor climbing walls, is looking for a Project Manager who can effectively manage our simultaneous projects and growing team. Candidates should have broad project management construction experience, be highly efficient and productive and mix well with our culture of outdoor enthusiasts.

Duties and responsibilities include planning and directing office operations, managing employees, schedules and deadlines, coordinating project logistics, developing and enforcing policies/procedures and strategic planning for future growth. In addition, this position will act as the single point of contact with the client once design work is completed. This is a newly created position with the company so there will be a good deal of process development.

Minimum of five years of operational or project management experience in the construction industry. Strong strategic planning and organizational skills. Excellent knowledge of practices, methods, equipment, materials and tools used in manufacturing and construction environment. Climber or outdoor enthusiast. Previous experience with Microsoft Office products including Microsoft Project or similar program.

Perks include a free membership to The Front Climbing Club, pro-shop discounts, Rumsy's Café discounts, health care program, and flexible vacation policy.

If you're looking for fast-paced, growing organization, email your resume to employment@vsclimbing.com

Check us out at <http://www.vsclimbinggyms.com/>